

Home Organization Checklist:

KIDS' BEDROOMS

- The fastest way to make a bedroom look more organized is by neatly making the bed every day. Choose bedding that will make it easy for your kids to make their beds themselves.
- Furniture that doubles as storage (benches, ottomans, or chests with a cushion on top) are perfect for bedroom toy storage, especially if you don't have a separate playroom.
- Created a dedicated area for crafts and homework. A small desk with a few drawers (don't forget the drawer organizers!) should be perfect for creating a workspace and a place to stash pens and pencil, homework folders, and art supplies.
- Laundry hampers can be a great storage solution for stuffed animals. If you'd rather have them off the floor, a hammock hung up in a corner is also a clever (and decorative) way to store them.
- Create toy storage on the walls, using hangers, hooks, shelves, and baskets or bins that are screwed to the wall. This is especially useful for small items and toys.
- If you have trouble finding places for all your kids' toys to live, adopt a "one in, one out" policy – any time they get a new toy, they need to choose an old one to give away.
